

Microbiology, MS

There is no direct admission to the MS program in microbiology. Graduate students interested in microbiology and immunology are considered for PhD admission only. Students who wish to leave or change PhD programs can instead matriculate with a master's degree if they have met the requirements.