Courses supported by the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology are designed to give medical students a comprehensive survey of female reproductive medicine. This is accomplished through a variety of didactic lectures, outpatient clinical assignments, inpatient experiences, and surgery.

The clerkship OBG:8301 Clinical Obstetrics and Gynecology supports students in developing the core knowledge, skills, and attitudes needed to provide basic obstetric, gynecology, and/or primary health care to female patients.

The department offers medical students a variety of advanced electives that provide training in specialty areas of obstetrics and gynecology.