

Oral Science, PhD

Admission

Applicants to the PhD program must meet the admission requirements of the Graduate College and those specified by the program.

Applicants to the PhD program must submit a statement describing past research experience and current research interests, and state how completion of the PhD program fits their career goals. A personal interview may be requested.

Applications must be received by Dec. 1 for full consideration of financial support.

Programs normally begin July 1 each year.