Anthropology, BA

Learning Outcomes
Graduates with a bachelor’s degree in anthropology should be able to:

• describe a broad range of changing and diverse human experiences, practices, and challenges across time and space;

• demonstrate how diverse cultural backgrounds and structural inequalities, including race, gender, class, and other socially constructed categories of difference, relate to peoples’ beliefs, experiences, and practices;

• explain the evolutionary and historical perspective as it pertains to human and nonhuman primates, including origins, behavior, ecology, biocultural variation, and material culture;

• apply anthropological research tools to collect and interpret data; and

• communicate anthropological concepts and findings.