Film Studies, MA

Learning Outcomes

Students will be able to:

- build requisite skills for doctoral-level study, including academic research and writing, public presentations, publishing, and grant applications;
- identify and apply concepts of film and media theory in scholarship as well as pedagogical practice;
- identify and apply methods of film historiography, including evaluating and working with archival materials;
- develop a broad understanding of the discipline’s history, current status, and potential future;
- acquire knowledge of cinema’s historical periods, global variations, and diverse forms; and
- acquire a diverse set of professionalization skills in order to explore film- and media-related career possibilities within and beyond academia.