

Data Science, MS

Career Advancement

The program prepares graduates for careers in academia, industry, business, or government that involve data visualization and modeling, managing reproducible data analysis workflows, and collaborating and communicating with scientists and other data stakeholders.