

French and Francophone World Studies, PhD

Career Advancement

The PhD program is designed to prepare students for research, teaching, and professional service normally required of college and university faculty members.