Doctor of Musical Arts, DMA

Learning Outcomes

• Acquisition of the highest level of knowledge and skills in performance that will prepare students for careers in performance or academia.
• Advanced competencies in repertoire, historical understanding, performance practice, and overall musicianship.
• Acquisition of knowledge and skills at the highest professional level in all facets and modes of performance within the student's area of study.
• Learning of effective approaches to pedagogy in the student's area of study.
• Knowledge and skills in one or more fields of music outside the student's area of study, such as theory, musicology, performance, composition, etc.

Requirements

The Doctor of Musical Arts requires a minimum of 72 s.h. of graduate credit. Students must maintain a cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.00 to earn the degree. The DMA is offered with two concentrations: conducting and performance.

Advisory Examinations

Entering Doctor of Musical Arts students must take two School of Music advisory examinations prior to registering for music history and music theory courses. These examinations are given on the Friday and Saturday preceding the opening of classes in the fall semester.

DMA students complete the courses under the MA degree (see the MA in music in the catalog) and the following courses. In addition, students have either a world language or a secondary area requirement.

Admission

Applicants must audition and/or submit supporting materials in their area of concentration in order to be considered for admission. Information about Graduate College admission and curriculum requirements for each area is available on the School of Music website.

For detailed information about Graduate College admission and policies, see the Manual of Rules and Regulations on the Graduate College website.

Financial Support

Applicants that complete the application/audition process are reviewed for potential awards (teaching or research assistantships, fellowships, or scholarships). Qualified graduate students are nominated by the area faculty for a potential award. Inquiries should be directed to the head faculty member in the applicant's area of interest.

Career Advancement

The Grad Success Center within the Graduate College offers multiple resources to help students explore their potential career options.

Ensemble Participation

Students in the performance and pedagogy tracks of all graduate programs are required to complete four semesters of major ensemble participation. Students enroll in major ensemble participation during consecutive semesters beginning early in their degree work, to ensure completion of the major ensemble requirements in a timely manner. Ensemble assignments are made at the discretion of the major teacher and ensemble director.

Major ensembles are as follows.
