

Emerging Infectious Disease Epidemiology, Graduate Certificate

Admission

Applications are only being accepted from current University of Iowa degree-seeking graduate students.

Applicants to the certificate program must hold a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college or university and must have a grade-point average of at least 2.75 (or international equivalent). For more information about how to apply, visit Certificate in Emerging Infectious Disease Epidemiology on the Department of Epidemiology website.