Marketing

Chair
• Dhananjay Nayakankuppam

Undergraduate major: marketing (B.B.A.)
Graduate degree: marketing subprogram for the Ph.D. in business administration
Faculty: https://tippie.uiowa.edu/people?keywords=&departments=176&category=All
Website: https://tippie.uiowa.edu/marketing

The study of marketing concerns itself with all activities related to the marketing and distribution of goods and services, from producers to consumers. The goal of the department is to make strong contributions to marketing practice and marketing theory with innovative teaching, cutting-edge research, and active community outreach. The marketing curriculum provides a broad foundation in marketing concepts along with opportunities to specialize in areas of vocational interests. The department utilizes multiple teaching methods, including experiential learning, research experiences, case analyses, and online and face-to-face classroom training to prepare students to solve a variety of marketing problems that arise in our increasingly complex global economy.

The Department of Marketing offers the undergraduate major in marketing and the subprogram in marketing that leads to the Ph.D. in business administration. Additionally, the department participates in the M.B.A. program; see Master of Business Administration Program in the Catalog.

Related Certificate
Event Management

The Department of Marketing (Tippie College of Business), the Departments of Communication Studies and Health and Human Physiology, and the School of Journalism and Mass Communication (College of Liberal Arts and Sciences) collaborate to offer the undergraduate Certificate in Event Management. Students who earn the certificate will know and be able to demonstrate the basic principles of organizing a successful event. They will gain a robust understanding of the diverse field of event management and careers in the event management industry. For information about the certificate, see the Certificate in Event Management in the Catalog.